JAPAN WILL RETAIN HER SUBMARINES

Gives Notice That Boats Scheduled for Destruction To Be Kept

IS MORE POWERFUL THAN COMPETITORS

LONDON, Sept. 2 (AP).—Japan served notice to the world tonight she will maintain at full force her mighty submarine armada.
Japan's decision to retain submarines originally scheduled for destruction under the 1936 Locarno Naval Treaty, was made known in a formal note to Great Britain.
The note, handed to the Foreign Office, signified Japan would keep in service, with 52,700 tons allowed, an additional 15,500 tons of submarine craft—the tonnage scheduled for scrapping before expiration of the Locarno Treaty January 1, 1937.
This would give Japan a strength in undersea warships one-third greater than that of either Great Britain or the United States.
The 1936 treaty provided the three nations should limit their submarine force to 52,700 tons each. To accomplish this, the treaty signatories would have to resort to the scrap heap before the end of the year.
Presumably, the Japanese availed themselves of the Locarno Treaty's escalator clause to permit retention of the submarines. Under the clause provides any party to the treaty may increase naval strength in any category if it feels national security is jeopardized.
British observers saw Japan's step as a reply to Britain's invocation of the escalator clause for destroyers. The British announced they would keep 40,000 tons of these destroyers, in excess of 150,000 tons allowed by the treaty.
Japan, had she desired, could have added 28,000 tons in destroyer strength. Rather, the Japanese elected to boost submarine power.
The question arose here whether Japan thus was entitled to transfer tonnage increases from destroyer to submarine and British experts made a study of the note on this point.
(As of July 1, submarine strength of the nations was unofficially estimated as follows: United States, 75,000 tons; Japan, 73,000 tons; Great Britain, 55,000 tons.) Under construction or provided for by appropriations: Japan 10,000, Great Britain 12,000, and the United States 25,000 tons.)

Seeking to Determine Remedial Measures for Province's Economic Ills

WINNIPEG, Sept. 2 (AP).—An economic survey of Manitoba to determine remedial measures necessary to meet economic difficulties was projected tonight as the Liberal-Progressive Government prepared to carry on the administration of Provincial affairs with support of Social Credit members of the Legislature.
RED ORGANIZATION COMING
Cabinet reorganization was pending and unconfirmed reports said possibly Dr. Stanley Fox, leader of the Social Credit group, might enter the Cabinet and that a seat would be found for Hon. R. A. Hoey, Minister of Education, who was defeated in St. Clements in the July 27 election.
Plans for the economic survey were disclosed by Premier Bracken before his departure last night for Ottawa, where he will interview the Federal Government on drought and unemployment relief problems. The survey was urged by the Social Credit members and sought by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation group in the last Legislature.

FREDERICTON, N.B., Sept. 2 (AP).—Spencer Brewer, while ploughing a field some forty years ago, turned over a turtle upon which he carved his name. A few days ago, while ploughing with his son, he turned over the same turtle—alive—in the same field and almost in the same section of ground.

Scion of Ancient Scottish Family Here

LORD Reay, titular head of the Clan Mackay, and his bride, the former Miss Charlotte Younger, daughter of a well-known Scottish family, arrived in the city yesterday in the course of their round-the-world honeymoon tour, and are shown in the above picture with representatives of the Clan Mackay, who welcomed them at the Empress Hotel.

Norway Interns Leon Trotsky in Comfortable Farm House

STORSAND, Norway, Sept. 2 (AP).—Scowling and tight-lipped, Leon Trotsky, escorted by fifteen plainclothesmen in six police cars, tonight reached his newest abode in exile—a little farm thirty miles from Oslo.
The exiled Bolshevik leader with his wife strode swiftly into the two-story house—a ten-room, modern structure, cosily furnished and set in a row of houses just across a narrow inlet from the popular bathing resort of Drobak.
Norway decided to intern the one-time Russian war minister rather than accede to the Soviet State's demand for his expulsion on charges of terroristic activities.

BOY SWEEP FROM SLOOP

Sons of R. L. Maitland, K.C., Have Terrible Experience Off Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2 (AP).—Bobby Maitland, eighteen-year-old son of R. L. Maitland, K.C., arrived here tonight, sunburned and smiling, but anxious to see his younger brother, Billy, in hospital gasping from a harrowing experience on the waters of Howe Sound late last night, which came near claiming the lives of both.
Towing behind a tug and barge in their small sloop, the Blue Boy, Bobby was swept overboard when their craft struck a log. He clung to a gasoline barrel and air cushion until his cries brought help. His brother, Billy, stayed with the craft as it nosed-dived its way behind the log and was finally rescued when Provincial Police were notified by Bobby's rescuers and went to his aid almost seven hours after the accident.
Clad in every-day pants and a white sweater bearing the insignia of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, Bobby stepped off the boat from Powell River tonight, where he was taken after being rescued.

SEARCHERS LOCATE ANCHORAGE AIRCRAFT ON KENAI PENINSULA

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 2 (AP).—A search party located tonight the wreckage of a plane on Kenai Peninsula, where they had gone for a fishing trip.
Searching aviators sighted the wreckage near the shores of Skilak Lake, sixty miles from here, but reported they were unable to land there. There was no sign of life about the plane, searchers said, but they expressed the hope that Mills and his companions, three men and two women, had come out of it unscathed and started mulling toward civilization.
Rescue planes refueled here to go again to the scene. They expected to land about four miles from the wreckage and hike the rest of the way.
Mills, former Seattle flying instructor, has a wife and two children here. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Markles, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence David and Augustus Teik. All are residents of Anchorage.

TWO KILLED IN MINE DISASTER

Rescue Crews Are Digging Through Debris in Hope Of Saving Others

LOGAN, W.Va., Sept. 2 (AP).—A gas explosion roared through parts of the Macbeth mine of the Hutchinson Coal Company tonight, killing two men and trapping eight others.
Rescue crews, trying to dig through tangled heaps of coal and slate torn from the mine roof, expressed doubt that any of the trapped men are alive. Their only chance, rescue workers said, was to have been able to throw up barricades against deadly "black damp" which filled the mine after the blast.
Mine officials expressed the belief that a spark from an electric motor used to haul coal cars ignited a pocket of gas, causing the explosion two miles from the shaft mouth. They said the blast was confined to a small area, permitting 110 other miners to flee to safety.
Members of a rescue crew recovered the bodies of two men—Ellis Watts, thirty-two, and Andy Gazik, both killed by the poisonous "black damp."

The motorboat quickly turned about and picked up the drenched King. The Herald said.

Round-Trip Flyers Well on Their Way Over the Atlantic

Dick Merrill and Harry Richman Make Successful Hop-Off at New York—Report "All O.K." Fifteen Hundred Miles Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP).—Under a "lovely full moon," Dick Merrill and Harry Richman, in a heavily loaded monoplane that had skimmed disaster at the take-off, sped far above the Atlantic tonight en route to London in the first leg of their projected round-trip New York-London flight.
At 10:01 p.m., Richman, a singer and actor, with a veteran airman as a partner in a strange flight, expressed his apparent ecstasy at what he saw by his words.
A LOVELY MOON
"Everything OK. With a lovely full moon." He added the ship was flying at 16,000 feet above an overcast. Unofficial commentators put the plane at that time at about 1,388 miles from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, where the flight started today.
They hoped to be in London for breakfast tomorrow.
At 11 p.m. E.S.T., they had 2,046 miles in front of them to reach Croydon Airport in England. At that time they messaged they were 1,501 miles out, were "all OK" and were preparing to eat a sandwich.

Rebel Airdrome Destroyed By Government Squadron

IRIATOU, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 2.—Driven back into the debris-littered streets of Irun, Government forces tonight gave ground before a Rebel onslaught that by nightfall had driven into the suburb of Behobia. The stubbornly-advancing Rebels, their red and gold flag planted atop Mount Turiarte—the last Government stronghold outside Irun—surged over the crest behind a heavy barrage and leaped into the last Government trench barring the way to Irun.

PORTUGAL TO BE NEUTRAL

Argentine Ambassador Seeks to Effect Truce in Spanish Strife

LONDON, Sept. 2 (AP).—Portugal agreed conditionally to join Europe's projected Spanish neutrality committee tonight, while diplomats seeking to curtail reported horrors of the Spanish civil war announced they were in contact with both the Madrid Government and rebel headquarters.
(The Argentine ambassador to Spain tonight said diplomats Hendaye, France, were seeking a truce in the Spanish civil war as the only means of preventing "a world war").
The cheering news from Portugal arrived just as the British Cabinet started a four-hour session to iron out problems arising from the Spanish conflict—with its danger of involving other nations.

WHEAT POLICY IS CRITICIZED

Government Receiving Protests From Some Sections Of the West

OTTAWA, Sept. 2 (AP).—Criticism arising from several sections of Western Canada protesting against the Government's Wheat Board policy has been added to the many affairs pressing upon the cabinet already faced with an almost unprecedented volume of administrative tasks.
Some information has been anticipated daily with respect to the numerous representations to be made and the important statutes awaiting proclamation. It is believed the Prime Minister will withhold his announcements until just prior to his departure for Geneva the last day of next week.

PRICE PEGGED

Last week the Prime Minister announced passage of an order-in-council provided that if the market price of wheat, based upon No. 1 Northern at Port William, closed below ninety cents, the Canadian Wheat Board would be automatically empowered to buy from the farmers at a guaranteed minimum price of eighty-seven and one-half cents. Otherwise the board would not be in the market as a buyer.

Anxious Chicago Parents Learn of Victim of Dread Malady Who Recovered

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (AP).—The postman brought new hope to the parents of Philip Levitt, seven-year-old sufferer of the often fatal viridans streptococcus infection today.
A letter from Dr. Thomas Marks, of Esquimault, B.C., giving minute data on a patient of his, Maurice Oidman, thirteen, recently recovered from the malady, was "just what we were looking for," Mrs. Morris Levitt, the mother, explained. The Levitts had been brought to Chicago.
"The Oidman boy had the same thing exactly," said the thrilled parent, who with her husband, an insurance salesman, had been undergoing injections of a vaccine made from dead germs in hopes their system would develop a serum to combat their son's infection.

Man in Street Gets All the Blame for Authorities' Failure

Railway President Says Voter and Taxpayer Hounds Governing Bodies to Do Those Things Which They Should Not Do

CALGARY, Sept. 2.—Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, laid responsibility for Canada's political and resultant economic ills squarely on the doorstep of the man in the street.

The voter and taxpayer, through pressure groups and unchecked hounding of public authorities to do things which public authorities should not do, is bringing about the breakdown of democratic government by the bankruptcy of public authorities," he says.

"The fault, I find, must be yours and mine. The saying is an old one and true today and ever, that a nation has as good a government as it deserves. However good a government we elect, its skill in functioning will be only as great as the ordinary citizen will let it be," Sir Edward declared in a forthright address to the Calgary Canadian Club.

IN LITTLE RESPECT
Taking up where he left off in his former review of "The Obligations of Business," Sir Edward said it must be admitted that there never was a time in the history of Canada when democratic government was so little held in respect as today and yet, he added, "the average personal qualifications of the men whom we elect to represent us are at least reasonably high."

Of government in Canada today Sir Edward said the main trouble, in short, was simply that impatient citizens are constantly hounding governments to do things which governments should not do.

"Much of the critical attitude of our people to their governments results from that general discontent which the nation has experienced in its sudden and enforced change from a period of great optimism and expansion to one of lessened activity and even of economic regression."

A FREE COUNTRY
Sir Edward declared: "After all, this is a free country and even

BOARD TO ADD NIGHT COURSES

School Trustees Sanction Six Additional Classes in Modern Subjects

Several new classes will be added to the night school system, which will commence on Monday, October 5, the School Board decided last evening. They include safety and first aid, ornamental horticulture, elementary astronomy, architectural engineering, forestry and elocution. "Architectural engineering will be taught twice each week. The other new courses will be held one evening only."

It was decided to reduce the $10 aviation ground course fee to $6 and eliminate the class in English for new Canadians. The salesmanship course will be renamed modern merchandising. Members of the school board agreed that regulations preventing day school pupils from attending night school should be amended to admit students who secure the written consent of a school principal. A new prospectus booklet form was ordered compiled.

George H. Deane, municipal school inspector, took his leave in the action for an injunction. He will require several days to prepare the case.

AWAIT DECISION
In the meantime the question of the city's legal right to follow plans outlined at the council meeting on Monday, must await the decision of the Supreme Court. The application will be heard by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

Alfred Brown intimated last evening the tentative date of September 9 had been set for the hearing. Elliott, Maclean & Shandley will represent the city. Mayor Leeming was out of the city and could not be reached.

In a brief statement, Alderman Brown declared:

"We have asked our solicitors to defend any action, and unless we receive a quick decision, it will be too late to secure any special legislation on the matter at the coming sitting of the House, and we must accept only what relief may be forthcoming from the Provincial Government. Then, it would be necessary to face the issue in a way which may eventually prove far more disastrous than our bond holders as well."

SOVIET OFFICIALS SUDDENLY OUSTED

MOSCOW, Sept. 2.—Two important Soviet officials were dismissed without explanation from their posts tonight by the Communist executive committee.

M. Tsimbaev, director of Soviet State Bank which extends long-term credits to industry, and Vice-Commissar of Agriculture Muralov were the officials ousted.

AIRDRONE DESTROYED
MADRID, Sept. 2.—Madrid, on which rebel air raids have been almost a nightly occurrence, went to sleep tonight wondering whether its airmen had assured a night of uninterrupted rest by destroying a concealed Fascist airdrome.

Barriers to the day-trooper 100,000 strong marched through the streets with clenched fists thrust skyward, shouting defiance at a rebel ultimatum to surrender or be bombed again.

The Government jubilantly announced inhabitants of the capital might sleep well tonight because their own aviators had destroyed the secret airdrome from which the rebels were taking off on their aerial sallies over Madrid.

GUNMEN BUSY IN VANCOUVER

Armed Thugs Conduct Two Raids on Business Establishments

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—A trio of gunmen were sought by Vancouver police late tonight after two raids on Vancouver business establishments had netted them a total of $66. Officers said they believed the holdups, although each was carried out in a similar manner, was the work of different men.

Answering a call to a gas station at Beatty and Robson Streets, officers were told by Malcom Burton that he had been held up and robbed of $40 by a lone gunman. Burton said he was in a back room when the man entered. The man, armed with a gun, looked in, then locked the door, helped himself to the contents of the cash register and fled.

Less than two hours later two men entered a sandwich shop at Pender and Howe Streets, and while one stood guard his companion searched the two clerks, Reginald Killern and George Marrs, took one dollar from Killern and then locked them in a back room. They took $25 from the cash register as they made their way out.

VICTORIA APPEAL SET FOR HEARING

Vancouver Host to Yukon's Sourdoughs Holding Convention

Recalling Adventures in Sub-Arctic Regions—Many Reminiscences Exchanged of Exciting Happenings in Klondike Gold Rush Days

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Sourdoughs of the Yukon, past and present, came to Vancouver today to swap yarns and reminiscences. From cities in the South and East, men whose features no longer bear the marks of sub-Arctic adventure which they lived through in the glacial gold-trek of 1898 came back to meet those who remained to find their fortunes in the North country.

President Henry Macaulay, of the Vancouver Yukoners' Association, and first Mayor of Dawson, and International President B. R. Dusenbury are in charge of the International Sourdough Convention, which opens formally on Friday.

MOVING PICTURES
One of the main features of the gathering will be moving pictures showing the Spring breakup in the Yukon River and the annual trek of caribou.

These two events are almost too wonderful for description," Bert Parker, secretary of the Yukoners, said. "I have seen men sit for hours on the river bank looking at the ice break. Nobody thinks of eating, sleeping or doing anything else while the show is on."

STOPS NAVIGATION
As for the caribou, Parker said that sometimes when the herd is crossing the river it is impossible for boats to navigate the stream.

Already two famous Yukon sourdoughs were here, looking for friends lost in gold rush days.

Pat Egan, now a detective inspector on the Lethbridge, Alta., force, remembered the time when, as a Royal Northwest Mounted Police constable (now Royal Canadian Mounted Police) in the Yukon he arrested Bill Brophy, who perpetrated the first and only holdup in the Yukon. Egan recalls how Brophy pressed a rifle against him and pulled the trigger, only to find the bullets had been removed from the gun. Then Brophy tried to use his razor, but Egan overpowered him.

A LONG MUSH
Then there is M. A. Mahoney, now an Ottawa businessman, who mushed from Fairbanks to Valdez through the Yukon and across Alaska and the trip took him more than a month.

WOMAN TERRIBLY INJURED BY AUTO

Driver Arrested Following Traffic Accident on Vancouver Street

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Struck by an automobile as she crossed a street intersection in the southern residential area tonight, Mrs. F. Stephenson, sixty years old, Vancouver, was in hospital in a critical condition.

John Harper, of Vancouver, whom police said was the driver of the car, was arrested and charged with driving to the common danger.

Suffering a fractured skull, compound fractures of both legs and chest injuries, the sixty-year-old woman was given but a slim chance for recovery by hospital authorities late tonight.

A total of nineteen victims have died in Vancouver traffic accidents since the first of the year.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE WINS IN BURRARD

suit of the by-election, the result might be contested in court because of alleged irregularity in the nomination papers of the Socialist, Robert Walker.

The by-election was caused by the resignation of Mayor G. O. McGeer, who ran for and was elected to the House of Commons last October.

DUAL REPRESENTATION
Vancouver-Burrard is a two-member seat and the other member is Mrs. Helen Douglas Smith, who won with Mayor McGeer against ten other candidates in 1933.

With success by the Government in Ontario in June and Vancouver-Burrard today, the Liberal forces are restored to their full strength. The official standing in the Legislature is: Liberals, thirty-five; C.C.F., seven; Independent Non-Partisan, two; Independent, two; Unionist, one; Labor, one. Total, forty-eight.

Since the 1933 election, however, when Conservatives did not officially take part, the declared affiliations have changed.

PARTY CHANGES
The recent ousting by the executive of the C.C.F. British Columbia branch, of their House leader, Rev. Robert Connell, and two other C.C.F. members has reduced the strength of that party to four. The two Independent Non-Partisan, Ralph Bruhn and Olive Plante; one Independent, Herbert Anson, and one Unionist, R. H. Pooley, are all members of the British Columbia Conservative Association. Plante declared himself a Conservative last winter and all attended this summer's party convention which elected Dr. Patterson leader.

PREMIER'S COMMENT
Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier and leader of the Provincial Liberal party, interviewed last night, said he did not care to go into the various aspects of the campaign or to make a lengthy statement. "Of course," he said, "I am more than gratified with the result of the poll. It was a good fight and a close one."

"I want to congratulate Mr. Patterson and say that I appreciate the action of the electors of Vancouver-Burrard. They have rendered a service to themselves and have done a good stroke of business for British Columbia. That is all I have to say for the moment," said the Premier, who received the returns at his home on Beach Drive.

Clansmen Welcome Scottish Nobleman On Visit to Victoria

Baron Reay, Chief of Clan Mackay, and Bride Spend Short Time in City During Their Round-the-World Honeymoon Tour

A DISTINGUISHED visitor in the city for a short time yesterday was the Baron Reay, Aeneas Alexander Mackay, a baronet of Nova Scotia, and Baron Mackay of Ophernert, Holland, head of the Clan Mackay. Married last April, he and his bride are on the last stage of their round-the-world honeymoon tour, and after an hour and a half here, between the arrival of the Seattle boat and departure of the Vancouver boat, continued on their way East and homeward to Europe.

In Victoria they were welcomed by the skirl of the bagpipes, played by Miss Lillian Grant, who added "Lochaber Gathering" and "Road to the Isles" to her programme of strathspeys and reels in special honor of the occasion. Lord Reay, who was standing on the upper deck waiting to disembark, was obviously pleased with the tribute.

THIRTEENTH BARON
Lord Reay, who is extremely tall (six feet seven inches), is the thirteenth Baron Mackay, but despite his Scottish title, has no Scottish estates, these having passed out of the family hands about 100 years ago. Born in 1905, he is the son of the twelfth Baron and the Baroness Maria Johanna Bertha Christina Van Deman, and on the death of his father in 1921, when he was sixteen years old, succeeded his father. He was born in the Netherlands and spent most of his boyhood there, but speaks flawless English without any trace of accent.

The continental connection dates back to the seventeenth century. Sir Donald Mackay, first Baron Reay, was created a baronet of Nova Scotia on March 28, 1627, and elevated to the peerage by the dignity of Baron Reay, "with remainder to his heirs male for ever bearing the name and arms of Mackay." But the further patent, creating Lord Reay the Earl of Strathnaver, never was completed.

owing to the Civil War and the fact that Parliament refused to perfect the creation. Lord Reay, who was a distinguished and gallant soldier, took an active part during the Civil War in favor of royalty, but being one of those exempted from pardon in the treaty between the Covenanters and King Charles, was obliged to retire to Denmark, where he died in February, 1648. John, the second Baron Reay, like his father, took up arms in the royal cause.

The family has had many distinguished statesmen and soldiers, and Lord Reay yesterday intimated that he might take up politics on his return to Europe. Lord and Lady Reay visited China, Japan and Honolulu on their way here, and expressed themselves as greatly delighted with their trip. After meeting representatives of the Clan Mackay who went to the Empress Hotel to welcome them, they were entertained at luncheon by Mrs. R. D. Murray and Major and Mrs. R. O. H. Murray, old friends of the family.

A judge's little daughter, who had attended her father's court for the first time, was very interested in the proceedings. After her return home she told a visitor: "Daddy made a speech, and several other men made speeches to twelve men who sat all together, and then the twelve men were put in a dark room to be developed."

INQUIRY IS BEING HELD

Survivors of Foundered Freighter Benmaple Are Testifying at Quebec

QUEBEC, Sept. 2 (P)—Survivors from the foundered freighter Benmaple will disclose tomorrow details of the collision with the liner

Lafayette on the fog-enshrouded St. Lawrence River early Monday morning. Preliminary inquiry into the crash which claimed the life of Wheelman John Dickie, of Owen Sound, Ont., was opened today by B. J. Kaine, of the Department of Marine, who heard testimony from crew members of the liner before she sailed for Havre last night, and was adjourned until tomorrow.

REPAIRS MADE
The French liner sailed after repairs had been made to two bow plates and after bond of $300,000 was posted to satisfy a writ of seizure filed by owners of the Benmaple, which sank in 380 feet of water.

Officers and other crew members of the freighter, which was bound from Port Colborne, Ont., to Sydney, N.S., with a cargo of flour, and evidence tomorrow. Preliminary testimony was given in hospital by three men, injured when pinned in the wreckage from the collision. The sudden crash in the dense fog was described by Garney Mitchell, steward on the freighter.

ASLEEP IN BUNK
Mitchell said he was asleep in his bunk and was tossed to the deck when the vessel met. Racking out on deck he found the wheelhouse toppled over in a heap of debris in which Captain Lebrun and Wheelman George Boyce were entangled. They were freed by other members of the crew.

Sailors tried to force their way through the wreckage to reach Dickie, but his body was crushed and held fast by broken timber. The Benmaple was listing badly and survivors had to work fast to get some of them away in a lifeboat with five passengers. Boats from the liner picked up other members of the crew.

MANY PAY LAST HONOR AT GANGES
Large Company Attends When Mrs. C. E. Eaton Laid To Her Rest

SALTSPRING ISLAND, Sept. 2.—The funeral of Charlotte (Lottie) Ellen Eaton, who died on Sunday evening in the Gulf Islands Hospital, Ganges, took place yesterday at 2 p.m. in St. Paul's church, Ganges. The little church, although crowded to capacity, could by no means accommodate the mourners who paid a silent tribute to one whose loss will be greatly felt in the community. Rev. C. H. Popham, vicar of the parish, officiated. Mrs. Eaton was 62 years of age. The hymns were "Thy Will Be Done" and "On the Resurrection Morning." Following the service, the long cortege followed the casket to its last resting place in the Anglican Church Cemetery, where a short service was held. An exceptionally large number of beautiful wreaths and other floral tributes covered the casket and grave. The pallbearers were George Borradaile, N. W. Wilson, Arthur Inglis, Frank Crofton, Ted Akerman and Capt. V. O. Best.

Mrs. Eaton, who was fifty-two years of age, was a native of Kenton, England. She came to this country about thirty years ago, first making her home in Saanich and Victoria. Ten years ago she came to Salt Spring, where she and Mr. Eaton took over the White Lodge, now known as Fulford Inn. Five years later she left South Salt Spring to make her home at Ganges.

An active member of the Fulford Women's Institute for several years, and later of the Ganges Chapter I.O.D.E. and the Woman's Auxiliary, she will be greatly missed by the organization, as well as her many friends on the island. She is survived by her husband, A. J. Eaton, of Ganges; three sons and one daughter, Fred Morris and Miss Edna Morris of Ganges; Raymond Morris of Mayne Island, children of her former husband, the late Thomas Morris of Victoria, and her youngest son, Kenneth Eaton, of Ganges.

City Conservatives Discuss Policies of B.C. Convention

Reduction in Legislature and Restoration of Balanced Budget Held Necessary for Development Of Sound Provincial Administration

COMMONSENSE approach to provincial affairs, with a reduction in the Legislature and deflation of some of the big-money ideas that have lately governed British Columbia policies, were sketched out before Victoria Conservatives last evening, by R. D. Harvey, chairman of the organization committee, in a clear-cut report to the central executive on the recent provincial convention.

Sound, practical principles, on which can be erected a broad and flexible platform on provincial issues, were adopted at the convention and will be the basis of the appeal by provincial Conservatives to the electorate at the next general election, Mr. Harvey said. Some of the leading decisions reached were enumerated as follows:

PRINCIPLES ENDORSED
Reduction in the membership of the Provincial Legislature, regarded as overlarge for the duties it has to perform.

Restoration of provincial finances to a proper balance, without equivalent taxation, so that municipalities may be enabled to meet their problems and carry on.

Clear-cut opposition to increase of taxation already proven burdensome, and a pledge of the utmost economy with elimination of all preventable waste.

Fair and equitable redistribution of the field of taxation, so that municipalities may be enabled to meet their problems and carry on.

The ear-marking of gasoline and motor vehicle revenues, available for the proper upkeep and development of highways and roads, under an independent highway commission.

ENCOURAGE MINING
Aggressive policies of mining development; with revision of unsound securities legislation and mining taxation, to encourage outside investment to open up new areas in the province. Action to promote greater use of silver in Canada, in connection with the restoration of the administration of education into the hands of the people, under elective school boards, consolidation of rural schools on a voluntary basis, greater attention to health and medical services, and inculcation of the ideals of British citizenship in the schools.

Under public works, elimination of cost-plus contracts; the ear-marking of motor revenues for road purposes; where practical, and a definite road policy to give through thoroughfares, linking with Alberta and the international boundary line. Revitalization of the agricultural services of the province, with practical efforts to encourage those on the land, and to find better markets for their products. Revision of land policies, to make settlement practical and effective, and to eliminate waste from isolation and incoordinated policies.

A FOREST POLICY
A definite policy of forest management to conserve timber assets, eliminate preventable waste, encourage growth of cut-over areas; research; adequate fire prevention; equitable timber royalties; and promotion of home manufacture, in contrast to export of raw logs to foreign markets.

Endorsement of the Bennett policy in respect to unemployment insurance, and recognition of unemployment as a major social problem, to be liquidated best through industrial expansion and by lessened taxation on industry.

COAST DEFENCE
Advocacy of early steps to insure the defence of Canada, particularly on the Pacific Coast, and recognition of the unity of Canada as a nation whose future lies within the British Commonwealth.

Mr. Harvey stated this special plan for a banquet to be tendered to Hon. Dr. S. F. Timine on September 25, were set in motion.

AMBASSADOR OF FRANCE STOPPED
HENDAYE, France, Sept. 2 (P)—A Spanish millionaire threatened tonight to shoot at an automobile in which the French ambassador to Madrid was returning from Spain, as the border from Spain to France was closed.

They halted Ambassador Jean Berthelette's car at the international bridge, and tried to arrest a Frenchman of Spanish origin, who was accompanying Berthelette to France from San Sebastian. When the ambassador refused to surrender his companion, the militiamen warned they would shoot.

"Fire, if you dare, on the French ambassador," Berthelette said. French guards arrived and obtained the car's release.

These will be made up of a choice of the following: Six teaspoons, three salad forks, three oyster forks, one dinner knife and fork, three oval spoons, three tea spoons, three butter spoons, three table spoons, one cold meat fork, one gravy ladle, or one butter knife and sugar spoon.

POOR JUDGMENT WAS THE CAUSE

Bureau of Air Commerce Blames Pilot for Plane Crash

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (P)—The Bureau of Air Commerce said today the "probable" cause of a transport airplane crash in which twelve persons were killed near Uniontown, Pa., last April 7 was "poor judgment" on the part of Pilot Otto Ferguson, Kansas City, Mo., one of those killed.

A report made public by the bureau said:

"It is the opinion of the Bureau of Air Commerce that the probable cause of this accident was poor judgment on the part of Pilot Ferguson, who was flying at a low altitude, and was descending through the clouds and overcast in mountainous terrain at a point unknown to him."

"Because of low clouds and poor visibility, this required flying close to the ground whereas the safest method under such circumstances is to climb into or above the overcast to a safe altitude and determine the location of the plane by instruments and radio."

Fishermen on Fraser River Are in Funds

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 2 (P)—The 1,500 gill-net fishermen operating on the Fraser River, earned more than $1,000,000 in the "bum" heavy sockeye run this season, according to semi-official estimates issued today.

The estimates place the average earnings per boat at $700, although it was said a number of boats were known to have cleared $1,000. Three Japanese fishermen from Aburatsubo were said to have cleaned up $3,000 each in the heavy run.

IN WAR-TORN SPAIN

The appalling cruelty which marks Spain's civil war is what is not understandable in other countries. It seems to indicate that in Spain there is a mentality far different from that in other countries of Europe, but, to account for it in part, the outbreak is in the nature of a class war, which affords an indication to the rest of the world of what such upheavals can mean. One commentator on events says that the Spanish mind, rent daily by a hundred and one controversies, is almost incomprehensible to peoples of neighboring countries. Certain it is that the bitterness of the struggle, which at times seems to indicate a determination to exterminate one or other set of belligerents, has amazed humanity at a time when the hope was that a spirit of peace was getting a greater grip on mankind.

It is the Marxists who are controlling the conduct of the campaign to meet the attack of the rebels. They too, must bear a good deal of the blame for having precipitated the conflict. They organized strikes all over the country for the purpose of producing disorder and unrest. They made the task of the Government in reconciling discordant political factors an impossible one. The Marxists made Fascism their stalking-horse. Their influence appears to exceed the part they play in the country, for at the last election only fifteen Communists were elected out of 462 Deputies. Various parties have been opposed to the Marxists, but seemed unable to unite against them in times of peace. Revolution came, and, despite the fact that the prisons were filled with Fascist leaders, various elements have coalesced in the attempt to change the regime. The probability is that Fascism has nothing to do with the outbreak. That political creed had no connection whatever with the army, and the army is on the side of the rebels.

The truth is that there is a chaos of groupings in Spain. The trend of the revolution so far seems to be a stalemate, though the fact that the rebels have kept the field for so long is an indication of the weakness of the Government. The forces aligned on the Left are ill-assorted. Perhaps the statement of General Queipo de Llano as to the outcome of the civil war is near the mark. He says that there will be no political parties, as Parliament has failed completely. His belief is that there will be no room for Fascists, and that only a military dictatorship could maintain order, and he thinks there will be a general reconstruction of the entire national life according to the given possibilities.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S VISIT

Lord Tweedsmuir leaves the Pacific Coast with his already high reputation of a well-equipped personality still further advanced, and an enlarged list of those who are attracted by his cordial manner and frank and human interest in affairs. The Governor-General has proved himself a statesmanlike representative of His Majesty and, like him, possessor of a democratic temper. He is now known to us as a ready maker of speeches, all happily appropriate and finely phrased; as a devout churchman, a good fisherman and—as several have experienced—a friend who does not forget. Whether meeting the citizens in public reception, or talking to Canadian Clubs, or visiting crippled children, or participating in public worship, or dedicating a Shakespearean garden, or addressing the cosmopolitan crowd at Vancouver's Exhibition, his wide experience, tactfulness and personality were given expression in fitting attitude and appropriate speech.

The political finesse of the King's representative was disclosed in his address to the Canadian Clubs of Victoria and Vancouver. Speaking in Vancouver on Canada's relationship to the new Empire, which he said was largely her creation, a subject on which a hand less deft might have bungled—he freshened within the minds of his hearers the ideals of that Empire. While keeping within official bounds, he yet gave definite guidance towards the realization of those ideals. In his address in this city Lord Tweedsmuir sketched in a series of choice vignettes, with entire frankness, but with fine reserve and in the best possible temper, the careers and personalities of a dozen or more leaders of the Empire whom he had known. These sketches were not only highly informative and in fine journalistic style, and they managed to convey the speaker's interpretation of contemporaneous political history. Canada may look forward to a distinct enrichment of life at the hands of His Majesty's representatives—for Lady Tweedsmuir must be included—at Ottawa.

COMFORT AND FASHION

The revolution in clothing is being led by the United States, and even men are coming under its spell. Discomfort and elegance are giving place to a desire to dress in a healthier way, and this is particularly the case with women, even old women, many of whom from the neighboring republic were seen on our streets during the tourist season, wearing ankle socks with bare legs, and dressed otherwise with a minimum of clothing to accord with decency. There is an effort now, at least by the female sex, to dress by the thermometer rather than according to fashion, and the time may come when men will so adjust their clothing that they will be cooler in summer, and women may do the same to be warmer in winter.

Man, however, has a long way to go. The abandonment of the collar is still a movement in its infancy. The long trousers with turned-up cuffs to collect all possible dust and grass seeds, still is worn. The fedora hat, designed as it is for the purpose to hold a pool of water on a rainy day, is still the fashionable headgear, and the waistcoat, even on the warmest of days, cannot be abandoned without violating convention. One of the established reasons for men clinging to their present type of clothing is their desire for as many pockets as possible. They have not yet achieved the independence that would lead them to put their portable possessions in a bag, as the ladies do, and even if they did, the probability is that they would be losing it all the time, because men have an ineradicable objection to carrying anything, except perhaps, upon occasion, a walking-stick, although they will carry a golf club, even a whole bag of clubs, or a tennis racket, around for hours after hours.

The fight between fashion and comfort has commenced in the male arena, and no one can say what will be the outcome. It is possible that the time will come when collars and ties will be discarded for all but formal occasions, and when men will go about open-necked. They would be healthier then, and breathe more freely, though they might be less formal and perhaps sloppy-looking in their attire. Fashion, of course, will fight hard to keep its control, for in some aspects it is the revolution spreads its existence may be at stake. Comfort, however, has a way of asserting itself in the long run. If woman has achieved her independence in freedom from clothing that tends to stifle, it should be a short step for men to do the same, although it is axiomatic that the male sex is much more conservative than the female.

ROYAL AIR FORCE

For the past fourteen months Great Britain has been concentrating on building up the Royal Air Force, and in that period there has been an increase of 15,300 in the personnel. The force now consists of 4184 officers, 129 captains, 39,338 airmen, 3,311 apprentices and 529 boy entrants. This is only the beginning of the expansion that is planned. When the Government announced its programme in Parliament on May 22 last it was stated that there would be an increase of nearly 22,500, including 2,500 more pilots, by March 31 next year. The construction of military aircraft is keeping pace with the building up of the personnel.

Queer occupational names have been unearthed in the course of the administration of National Health Insurance in England and Wales. There is a "hovelier," who helps barges to negotiate bridges in the Medway; a "scribbling engineer," who takes his name from duties in Yorkshire woolen mills; a "hobbiar," engaged by Bristol pilots to assist in navigating ships into docks; "sworn meter and weigher," a person who weighs and measures goods brought into the port of Kingston-upon-Hull; "lookers," who are rural workers who take care of sheep moved from upland farms to marshland in the Spring; and "knockers-up," who act as "human alarm clocks" in industrial areas.

National Health Insurance in England and Wales last year cost $164,000,000 and embraced 16,500,000 insured men and women. Towards the expenditure the Government had to provide $27,000,000. Questions of insurance had to be dealt with by the Ministry covering such occupations as window-cleaners, wood-choppers, sheep-shearers, sandwich-men, mole-catchers, musicians, hay-cutters, hairdressers, upholsterers, umpires, an animal trainer in a menagerie, a grave-digger's assistant, a charcoal burner, a wireless operator, a minister of religion and a "hot" saxophonist.

WOOT NOT THE WORLD

Woot not the world too rashly, for behold,
Beneath the painted skin and brooding,
It is a faithless and inconstant thing.
(Listen to me, Mu'tamid, growing old)
And we—that dreamed youth's blade would never rust.
Hoped wells from the mirage, roses from the sand—
The riddle of the world shall understand
And put on wisdom with the robe of doom.
—From the Arabian Nights, Doile L. Smith.

Good men have the fewest fears. He has but one great fear who fears to do wrong; he has a thousand who has overcome it.—Bovee.

An evil intention perverts the best actions, and makes them sin.—Addison.

MANY HARDSHIPS

His living conditions of course, would be considered as a hardship by your average worker. He had to feed himself, as there is no cooking house. He could have his own food, but he was not allowed to do so. He was not allowed to have his own food, but he was not allowed to do so.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Prickly Porky Nearly Chokes

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Hardly was Jimmy Bessie's spoon and hearing after having made his call on Prickly Porky, than Redeye the Vase, whose home is in a tree just at the foot of the hill where Prickly Porky lives, heard a very strange noise. He was very busy, was Redeye, telling all who would listen how happy he was and what a beautiful world this was. His eye seems to think that this is his special mission in life, that he was put in the Green Forest for this one special purpose—to sing all day long, even in the hottest weather, when other birds forget to sing, his little song of gladness and happiness. It never seems to enter his head that he is making other people happy just by being happy himself and saying so.

At first he hardly noticed the strange noise, but when he noticed it singing for a bit of a while, he was very plain, and it sounded so very queer that he flew up the hill toward the place from which it seemed to come, and there his bright eyes soon discovered Prickly Porky was in some kind of trouble, and that it was he who was making the queer noise. Prickly Porky was on the ground at the foot of a tree, from which a little piece of bark was hanging. It was such a strange performance that Redeye simply stared for a minute. Then in a flash it came to him what it meant. Prickly Porky was choking, and if something wasn't done to help him he might choke to death!

Now there was nothing that Redeye himself could do to help for he was too small. He must get help somewhere else, and he must do it quickly. Anxiously he looked this way and that way, but there was no one in sight. Then he remembered that Uncle Billy Possum's hollow tree was not far away. Perhaps Uncle Billy could help. He hoped that Uncle Billy was at home, and he would not be in the middle of the night. Uncle Billy was in the middle of the night, and he was not in the middle of the night.

Next Story: Jimmy and Uncle Billy Tell Different Stories.

"Come closer, so that I can whisper," Uncle Billy said.

Caught hold of the pieces of bark hanging from Prickly Porky's mouth. Then he braced himself and pulled with all his might. For a minute the piece of bark held. Then it gave way so suddenly that Uncle Billy fell over on his back. Uncle Billy scrambled to his feet and looked reprovingly at Prickly Porky, who lay panting for breath and with big tears rolling down his face.

"An certainty am surprised, Prickly Porky. An certainty am surprised that you should be so greedy that you choke yourself," said Uncle Billy, shaking his head.

Prickly Porky grinned weakly and rather foolishly. It wasn't greed, Uncle Billy. It wasn't greed at all, he replied.

"Then what was it, may I ask?" demanded Uncle Billy, severely.

"I thought of something funny right in the middle of my nose, and I laughed just as I started to swallow, and the piece of bark went down the wrong way," explained Prickly Porky, and then as if the mere thought of the thing that had made him laugh before was too much for him, he began to laugh again, until finally Uncle Billy quite lost patience. He laughed and laughed and laughed.

Announcements

There is an Agency of Mind that only sensitive women who suffer from supernatural causes understand. They distrust advertisements which offer instantaneous cures, having found the relief merely transitory. They rarely speak of their distress, but just bear it in silence. To such women Miss Handman would issue an invitation to come and see her—they will meet with every kindness and consideration, and there will be no charge whatever for consultation. 503 Bayward Building, Phone G 7642.

Metropolitan W.M.S. Tea Has Special Decorations

The Season's Tea held yesterday afternoon in the schoolroom of the Metropolitan United Church by the Women's Missionary Society, was both a social and financial success, approximately 200 guests attending. The room had been attractively decorated for the occasion, dahlias, zinnias and gladioli predominating. Miss Grace Baker, president of the society, and Mrs. E. F. Church received the guests, and Mrs. W. L. Smith, who was general convenor of the affair, spoke a few words of greeting and announced the programme.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME
Miss Barbara Dawson delighted the guests with two "solos," "Winter Comes" and "Green Pastures." Miss Evelyn Harper played two delightful pianoforte solos, "Elude in D Flat" (Liszt) and "Etude" (Arensky). Little Sylvia Welsh and June Scott, pupils of Miss Enid Cole, caused great amusement with their numbers, June Scott giving "The Cuckoo's Wedding" and "The Lantern." Miss J. E. Runtz, who was general convenor of the affair, spoke a few words of greeting and announced the programme.

The tables were most artistically decorated, each one representing a season of the year, and the hostesses and their assistants had arranged every detail with the greatest care. At the Spring table, Mrs. H. O. English was hostess. In the centre was a bed of moss, dotted with fern and blue violets, a gay Maypole and tiny doll dancers dressed in pastel shades adding a pretty touch of color. Green and yellow lilies glowed in crystal candlesticks. Mrs. Eber Crumley and Mrs. Albert Sullivan poured tea, and assisting in serving were Mrs. E. J. C. Smith, Gerald Murphy, Mrs. W. H. Muncy, Mrs. C. E. Ball and Miss Flora Braik. At the Summer table, Mrs. R. J. C. Smith was hostess, the decorations being pink and white carnations arranged in a beautiful silver basket.

VanDecar, a member of many years' standing, Mrs. Edna, president, her with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, accompanied by the best wishes and congratulations of all present. Heralds were then read by Mrs. Boorman on "Africa," Mrs. G. Jones on "India," and Mrs. D. W. Phillips on "Japan." A message from the Christian Science Board of Missions was given by Mrs. J. Edge, and a short talk on "Temperance" was given by Mrs. L. Scott. The guest speaker was Rev. V. U. Ogura, of the Victoria United Japanese Church, who with Mrs. Ogura, was tendered a hearty greeting. He gave an interesting story of the early days of Christian work in Japan, and told of the many Japanese martyrs who bore persecution and death as a result of Christian profession. Mr. Ogura also spoke of his own work in Japan, where he labored as a missionary before coming to his present charge. On motion of Mrs. G. Jones, thanks and appreciation were expressed to the speaker. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Jones, Carey Road, when Mrs. J. A. Grant and Mrs. W. J. Jones will convene the arrangements. Tea was served by Mrs. Allan and Mrs. McGillicray, assisted by Miss Margaret Pringle and Miss Elsie Fryatt. During the refreshment hour, Mr. Ogura entertained the members with several vocal solos in his native language.

Catholic Women's League
The regular September meeting of the Victoria Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held last evening in the library of the Bishop's House. Mrs. Blair Reid, the president, was in the chair and Rev. Father Albury conducted the opening prayers for the meeting. The reports of secretaries and treasurer were duly read. Flowers and other tokens had been regularly sent to sick and bereaved members during the summer season and reports were made by Mrs. Windau and Mrs. de Blaquiere. The hospital visiting volunteers for September were Mrs. W. McManus and Mrs. Windau. An appeal was made by Miss Clay for assistance for the Indians at the Truism Reserve, and the donors were to be asked to attend to these people. The garden party at Sooke for the mission which was assisted by the Catholic Women's League was reported as being a great success, and thanks were expressed to the helpers. The sale of dishes for a booth at the fair was planned and helpers will be under the convenship of Mrs. Blair Reid. The meeting expressed good wishes for Mrs. Ebbes-Canavan for her journey to New York. Full reports were read for the indoor fete held in June, the proceeds of which were to aid the funds of St. Louis College. Plans for affairs for the coming year were discussed and correspondence from the National Subdivision read.

Queen Alexandra Review
The semi-monthly meeting of Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A. was held on Monday evening in the A.O.F. Hall, with the president, Mrs. Minnie A. Ritchie, in the chair. Miss Ida Tatham was welcomed as a new member. Preliminary arrangements were made for entertaining the Chemainus Review on September 21. Miss Jean Baxden, the convener, asked that all members intending to be at the banquet on that date, get in touch with her as soon as possible at 63345. Mesdames M. Trowdale, Williams, A. Taylor, S. Davis, and Misses A. Reid and M. Myles, with Mrs. K. Schmelz as convener, will get on the social committee for the remainder of the year. Miss Annie Reid gave a report on the girls' club meeting held last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Williams. The next meeting will be held on September 21, when Chemainus Review No. 19 will be guests of honor at a meeting and banquet.

Grey Kidskin Makes Smart Winter Coat

OR the slim young thing, be the matron, deb or coquette, there is nothing smarter than sleek grey kidskin, belted and pocketed to show off a narrow waistline and slender hips. That is what is used to fashion this fur coat. It is collared in dark grey Persian lamb, and the deep pockets are trimmed with the same skin. The belt is of grey kidskin, and is finished with a leather cocarde. The slim Persian lamb adds just the right touch to the coat line.

Women's Institutes
GANGES
The Ganges Institute resumed its monthly meetings after the summer vacation in the committee room of the Mahou Hall, Ganges, the president, Mrs. N. M. Smith, presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Charlesworth. The president reviewed the activities of the Spring and Summer, and expressed great pleasure at the results achieved by the children in their competitive gardens, sixty-one of which had been viewed and judged. After inquiring about the fire, it was finally decided to send the rule book by members to the exhibition in Victoria, September 12 to 19, including it with the Ganges Institute exhibit. The dental clinic scheme was discussed at length and reluctantly abandoned, owing to the heavy expense it would entail. In making arrangements for Fall and Winter activities, it was decided to concentrate on hand-made quilts and comforters and also on securing a new drop scene for the stage in the Mahou Hall. A letter was read from the Salvation Army Vancouver branch, gratefully acknowledging a monetary donation and also one from the Langford Women's Institute asking the approval of the suggestion that a technical school might be opened on Vancouver Island in addition to the existing one in Vancouver. The members were unanimously in favor of the project. A member brought up the subject of relief for those suffering from the results of the floods in the Fraser Valley. After discussion, it was arranged that when a direct appeal was made, the institute would be glad to help. It was decided to hold a plant exchange at the October meeting. The tea hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. A. Campbell and Mrs. H. Johnson.

Qualicum Beach
Mrs. H. Jaxon has returned from Vancouver, where she was a delegate at the provincial conference of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. C. J. Robson, Great Central, has returned to her home after spending a holiday at Qualicum Beach. She will be leaving shortly on a trip East.

Mr. R. I. Knudsen, headmaster of the Qualicum Beach School for Boys, has taken Mrs. H. Jaxon's house on the waterfront, and it will be used as a senior boys' home.

Harecranes invented a machine for spinning cotton, which he called Jenny in honor of his wife. Competition also a machine, which he called the mule.

Had Agonizing Pains in Her Back

Free From Pain Since Taking Kruschen

Like many other sufferers from backache and rheumatic ailments, this woman decided to try Kruschen. In a last attempt to obtain relief from pain, to her surprise, the pain did grow less, and in a few months the backache had disappeared. Having made sure of the results, she now writes as follows:

For about four months I had agonizing pains in my back, and could not turn in bed. During that time I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief, and was seriously considering going into hospital. However, seeing a case similar to mine described in an advertisement for Kruschen, I thought I would try it, and was more than surprised to find the pain getting less, and in four months, and would not be without it for anything. I must say I am free from those dreadful pains.

(Mrs. B.C.)

Kruschen is an excellent diuretic that is, it helps to stimulate kidney functions. When kidneys are restored to healthy, normal action, poisonous waste is properly eliminated, the blood-stream is purified, and you get welcome relief from the dragging pains of backache. (Adv.)

At the Theatres

PLAZA PRESENTS
DRAMATIC STORY

Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy
Co-Starring in Starring Story,
"Riffraff"

To glamorous Jean Harlow has fallen a stark role, the most powerful in her screen career. Trained with Spencer Tracy, she plays the heroine of "Riffraff," dramatic romance of life on an American waterfront. The picture is now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

Miss Harlow portrays a girl who loves the swagging, two-faced boss of the waterfront, played by Tracy. For him she steals and goes to prison, her sacrifice finally bringing about the man's regeneration. This new role is in striking contrast to her most recent, as China Doll with Clark Gable and Wallace Beery in "China Seas."

Columbia Offers
Lively Picture

Mothers warned their daughters against him, but one brave girl loved him enough to back him to win against tremendous odds.

He warned the girl he loved that he was a "bad boy," but she married him to make him good.

He tried to shake his wife so that she might marry another, but she insisted upon marching at his side in quest of financial security and happiness.

Here, in a nutshell, is the human story of young people in love. "Bad Boy," featuring James Dunn, who skyrocketed to fame in "Bad Girl," "Bad Boy" opens at the Columbia Theatre today.

FEATURE ATTRACTION - IS "THE DARK ANGEL"

"The Dark Angel," a gripping, romantic drama starring Frederic March, Merle Oberon and Herbert Marshall, will be the feature attraction at the Oak Bay Theatre today. Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee at 2 p.m.

"The Dark Angel" is a powerful and beautiful love story, set in a lovely corner of rural England. It reflects the hearts of a woman and two men—one of whom she loves, while the other loves her.

"SAN FRANCISCO" TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

A new and truly romantic team is brought to the screen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "San Francisco," opening tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre, in Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald.

For the first time the rugged, two-fisted, jaw-slacking Gable of old and the lovely Miss MacDonald with the voice that thrills, are brought together, with Spencer Tracy sharing stellar honors.

"San Francisco" has drama, love interest, comedy and spectacle. Gable has the rough and tough type of role in which his screen public likes him best. Miss MacDonald has the ideal part to give her opportunity to sing, and when she sings there is a reason for her singing, for her songs are a part of the plot.

FRANKNESS

Auntie had just had a slip of whiskey, when her little niece came and kissed her goodnight.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HELPING THOSE WHO ARE HEARING

Man's eyes now allow a tag day each year to help the blind. There is something about an individual deprived of sight that appeals to the sympathy of those who are usually thoughtless about the happiness of others. With the funds collected various methods of helping the blind or nearly blind are undertaken—restoring eyesight, purchasing glasses, arranging entertainments, purchasing the special books and newspapers.

Because we do not think of the deaf or hard of hearing as in "special" need of our thought or help, we do not have the great general interest in their welfare.

Physicians in contact with both the blind and the deaf will tell you that the deaf—or hard-of-hearing individual really needs our sympathy and aid more than one who is deprived of sight. This is due to the fact that not being able to hear—distinctly—what is going on about him, he cannot enter into his conversation, business or pleasure. He is usually "outside" of everything, but is actually apt to be a little suspicious of others—that they are talking about him and likely taking in an unfavorable manner.

You can readily see that this "living within himself" entirely is not only harmful to him mentally and physically, but distressing and embarrassing to his family, friends, and those with whom he works. Fortunately for those hard of hearing there have been many hearing aids invented in the last few years, and when the individual is able to get one that fits or suits him, according to the degree and the type of hearing he already possesses, he can adjust himself to his surroundings, get regular employment, and can be made happy and free from embarrassment.

However, some of those who are hard of hearing have never heard of the real or genuine devices for hearing the hearing—others have tried useless or nearly useless methods, and still others have tried hearing aids that while useful to some types of hard of hearing were not suitable for them. It is very gratifying, therefore, to know that the American Society for the Deaf of Hearing, 1537 35th Street Northwest, Washington, D.C., besides its classes in lip-reading and other work is making a determined, systematic and nation-wide effort to help all those who are hard of hearing to acquire all the natural hearing possible, and to assist them in selecting hearing aids most suitable for their particular needs, getting them at reasonable prices, and with a real guarantee from the manufacturers.

This organization has branches in many of the large cities, the address of the nearest can be obtained by writing to the above address in Washington.

SALESMANSHIP

With a grinding of brakes the London bus pulled up. But before it had knocked down the old gentleman.

Willing hands carried the victim to the pavement. After treatment from a policeman, the old man sat up and looked around him.

"Where am I?" he asked, listlessly.

"Ere 'are guv'nor," said a smart hawker in the crowd, "Map o' London, one penny."

BEES DESIRED

Department of Agriculture Is Given New Problem, With a Sting to It

Officials of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture were on the lookout yesterday for home-loving bees that will not cross neighborhood fences and sting people in awkward places. They were moved to this by the complaint of a British Columbia farmer whose identity is for the present reserved.

Writing to Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, the farmer stated:

"As a citizen and a taxpayer in this district, my neighbor is away and on his place a fellow by the name of... is a beekeeper and just leads the place with bees. The bees are a real nuisance. They kill the bigger part of our blossom and infest even the house. My wife stung one night in bed. And the fellow is not even a citizen of the country."

THE LAST STRAW

"Something has got to be done, as this is going altogether too far. Do I have to stand all this and let my bees here next year I would have to destroy my strawberry and raspberry crop because the bees ruin them while in bloom. Wishing you would give this matter some consideration, and happy to hear from you, I remain,

The more they thought about it, the more officials of the department were convinced that as between tame and friendly bees, and wild and roving bees there lies a world of difference. How to tame the bees, however, remained the problem.

WEATHER CAUSES MANY FIRE CALLS

Fire Chief Alex Munroe Reports Fire Loss for August of Only $945.50

Seventy-three alarms were answered by the fire department during August, according to Fire Chief Alex Munroe. Sixty-four were in the city and nine in Oak Bay. Because of hot, dry weather, the figure is higher than any month for over two years.

Six major fires during the month caused a loss of only $945.50, with a total value of $500,000 of property at risk. The seventy-three fires occurred in districts with a total assessment of $45,000,000.

Fire losses from January 1 to August 31 total $17,118, more than $7,800 less than figures for the corresponding period last year. Preventive work involving nearly 1,000 inspections during August was largely responsible for the low fire loss, according to Chief Munroe. Members of the fire department participated in 239 drills.

Farmer Brown complained that he could find no old clothes to put on the scarecrow.

"Well," said his wife, "our George said I could give away my old plus-four suit, as he's got a new one. Why not use that?"

"Don't be ridiculous," woman said the farmer. "I want to scare the crows, not make 'em laugh!"

FOREST FIRES

BELIEVED OVER

Southern Interior Was Chief Sufferer in 1936 Season From Flames

British Columbia foresters believed the fire season was about at an end yesterday, as a result of recent rains. Total outbreaks for the year at last report were 1,325, compared with 875 fires during a similar period in the year previous.

While computation of the actual loss had not yet been made, the bulk of the damage occurred in the Southern Interior, relatively few serious fires being reported in the north.

By districts, the outbreaks were recorded as follows: Nelson forest district, 537; Kamloops, 407; Prince George, 82; Prince Rupert, 41, and Vancouver, including Vancouver and Gulf Islands, 259.

The 1936 season compared narrowly with that experienced in 1934, when 1,315 fires were reported.

UNITED STATES LEADS ENGLAND IN WALKER CUP

U.S. Tennis Meet Will Start Today At Forest Hills

Fred Perry and Helen Jacobs Favored to Capture National Net Crowns—Three Canadians Entered—Eighty-Nine After Men's Title—Budge Conceded Best of U.S. Entries

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 (AP)—The discouraging business of trying to keep Fred Perry and Helen Jacobs from winning the United States men's and women's tennis championships will be re-established tomorrow at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Both are overwhelmingly favored, especially Miss Jacobs, who will be trying for her fifth straight title. California's Don Budge is conceded a chance of topping the tall Englishman if Perry is below form.

Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., the 1935 champion, who beat the injured Perry in the semi-finals of the tournament last year, now is bothered with a back injury himself and will not defend his title. All other outstanding American players, four French and three Canadian contenders are among the eighty-nine entrants accepted for the men's tournament by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

CANADIANS ENTERED
Laird Watt and Robert Murray, of Montreal, along with George Leclerc, of Ottawa, carry the Canadian challenge.

The women's championship lost much of its appeal when Mrs. Helen Wills Moody reversed an early decision and did not enter. Without her, Miss Jacobs ranks at least a 2-1 favorite against the field, with only three players, Kay Stammers, of England; Alice Marble, of San Francisco; and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Payton, of Cambridge, Mass., considered capable of giving her a hard match.

SCOTS DEFEAT IRISH ELEVEN BY 5-2 SCORE

Scottish League Footballers Chalk Up Easy Triumph Over Ireland

GLASGOW, Sept. 2 (AP)—Playing at Troxy Park, home of Glasgow Rangers, a Scottish Football League eleven trimmed Irish League representatives, 5-2, today. At half-time the score was 4-1.

The contest was only nine minutes old when R. Harrison, Hamilton Academical, climaxed a Scottish offensive with a well-earned goal from fifteen yards out. J. Delaney pounced on a rebound and added in the Scottish goal to reduce the lead. Shortly before change of ends F. Murphy, Celtic forward, broke away and scored to practically put the game "on ice."

The Irishmen were pressing hard and Shearer gave them life when he sized a low, hard shot past J. Dawson in the Scottish goal to reduce the lead. Shortly before change of ends F. Murphy, Celtic forward, broke away and scored to practically put the game "on ice."

WALKER SCORES
Tommy Walker, sensational heart of Midlothian, sensational heart of the Scots' defence for his team's second and final counter.

LIONS HELD TO DRAW BY STARS

Crowd of 75,000 Watches Pro Grids Battle College All-Stars Under Floodlights

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (AP)—Coming from behind, Detroit Lions, professional football champions of the United States, fought the College All-Stars to a 7-7 tie before 75,361 spectators in floodlighted Soldier Field tonight.

Trailing 7-0 at the end of the third period, the Lions seized advantage of a break in the fourth period, when Leemanns fumbled when tackled on the All-Stars twenty-nine-yard line.

Hupke recovered for the professionals, and the Lions drove over a touchdown with Cappel taking the pigskin over from the eight-yard line. Captain Earl "Ditch" Clark, of the Lions, kicked goal.

The All-Stars scored their touchdown in the second period with Babe Lavoie, of Minnesota, chalking up the score on a reverse and cutback after taking a lateral pass. It was a dash of seventeen yards. Wally-Frambart, of Notre Dame, kicked the extra point.

The Lions failed in two other scoring threats in attempting to boot goals from the field.

LACROSSE WORKOUT

Tommy Rickinson's beils lacrosse team will hold an important workout this evening at the Central school ground at 6:30. All players are asked to turn out.

Competing Today in C.N.E. Marathon Event

Most of the prize money for the women's three-mile swimming race in front of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds at Toronto, on September 2, according to expert observers, will be shared by the six contestants shown above. No. 1 is Nell Hurley-Parrott, formerly of Memphis, Tenn., but now the wife of "Polly" Parrott, the six-day bicycle rider of Victoria. Hereafter she is going to reside in Canada. Last year she led the race for three-quarters of the distance, but dropped back and finished in third place. No. 2 is Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong, of Detroit, the veteran of the C.N.E. marathon swims. She was in the money in 1929, 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1935. No. 3 is Lucy Spece, of Toronto, a powerful swimmer who is better over a longer course. No. 4 is Janet Sheather, of Port Credit, winner of the Century of Progress swim at Chicago two years ago. No. 5 is Mona Looney, of Warren, Ohio, who finished sixth in 1934, which was her first year in pro swimming. No. 6 is May Looney, sister to Mona, who won fourth place in 1930, third in 1932, fifth in 1933, first in 1934 and fifth in 1935. She is in splendid condition and is regarded as the most dangerous contender.

will appear in three of them, while the crew of the S.S. Atlantic City, which is being repaired in the Esquimaux drydock at present, will meet the Victoria "B" eleven at Macdonald Park on Saturday afternoon.

Seattle will face the Five Cs at Beacon Hill Park on Saturday afternoon, and the Albions will travel to Duncan to meet Cowichan the same day. On Labor Day, Victoria will clash with Vancouver in an annual inter-city match at Macdonald Park, commencing at 10:30 o'clock. The team will be as follows: Austin, G. C. Grant, J. Payne, G. Wenman, G. Payne, L. Gibbons, C.

W. Twite, A. J. Darfus, E. S. Fox and A. Griffin. Jesse Longfield will be the official scorer, and the umpire will be announced later.

TO MEET ALBIONS

The Sound City cricketers will appear in action on the holiday, with the Albions providing the opposition, at Beacon Hill Park, starting at 1 o'clock. Sometime during the week-end, the Seattle eleven will meet the Incogs in their third match of their visit to the city.

In order to permit the visiting S.S. Atlantic City side to perform at Macdonald Park on Saturday, the Incogs-Victoria match has been switched to the University School.

Fletcher and Tyrrell were both out to good catches by Smith off Beedham's bowling. Six wickets were down for 147 runs, but the score had reached 207 before the eighth wicket fell. It was some fine batting by Petch and Jimmy Oakman which brought the total up so high. After two hours of battling with the total at 207 for nine wickets the Bays batted first and got away to a fine start, Frank Tyrrell and Turner exactly 100 minutes batting.

OAKMAN BATS WELL
Frank Tyrrell had seven fours and Oakman had nine fours, and one six in his 72 not out. Turner also batted carefully for his 39. When Victoria batted, Moore and P. Austin obtained 39 runs for the first wicket. After Moore left nobody was able to stay long with Jones, who was keeping, as he end up. George Austin played a fine innings of 30, but the last wicket fell at 65, leaving the Bays winners by a substantial margin.

Baker, bowled very well for the Bays, getting seven wickets for 39 runs, while the seven were shared by Victoria bowler Jones, bowled by thirteen overs for three wickets, and Beedham, Gillespie and Darling getting two each.

AMERICAN GOLFERS WIN TWO MATCHES; OTHERS ARE DRAWN

Goodman and Campbell Score Easy Victory Over Thomson and Bentley, 7 and 5—Smith and White Whip McLean and Langley, 8 and 7—Two Others End Contests All Square

CLEMENTON, N.J., Sept. 2 (AP)—America's heavily-favored Walker Cup forces grabbed a two-point lead over England's freshman golf team in the opening four-hole duels at Pine Valley today. In the four matches played, America won two and two were tied, making the score 2-0 under the Walker Cup system of counting no points for ties.

Seven down with but eleven holes to travel, Alex Hill, the plugging Scot, and Cecil Ewing, an Irishman who plays his two shots screaming down the middle, made such a gallant rally that they evened their match with Harry Givan, of Seattle, and the veteran George Voigt, of New York to save the visitors from what appeared to be another rout.

GOODMAN, CAMPBELL WIN
Johnny Goodman and "Scotty" Campbell, of Seattle, had buried the British combination of Hector Thomson and Harry Bentley, 7 and 5. Reynolds Smith and Ed White, the Texan bombardiers, had routed Jack McLean and John Langley, 8 and 7, and Charles Yates, of Atlanta, and Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, had been fortunate enough to hold Gordon Peters and J. Morton Dykes to a tie when the small but intense gallery rushed to what they thought would be another American conquest, with Hill and Ewing the victims.

But the invaders, competing in their first Walker Cup match, seized every one of the numerous mistakes of their rivals, scored to the occasion when needed with sub-par golf and ended all even. The British duo lost their big chance, it developed, when Hill used the wrong club on the thirty-second, underclubbing the ball and losing the hole to the Americans.

Although Uncle Sam's team, playing with Captain Frank Quinlan on the sidelines, gained a two-point advantage and need only an even break in tomorrow's eight singles matches to retain the cup, the outcome of the foursomes knocked the sublime confidence out of them. For the past week the Americans were so heavily favored that galleries were offering as high as 30-to-1 against the British, with no takers.

TODAY'S MATCHES

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
A Blast Furnace Produces More Iron in the Winter—The humidity, or amount of moisture in the air, is greater in the Summer than in the Winter. A blast-furnace is a smelting furnace in which the fire is intensified by a blast of air blown into the furnace at the rate of from 50,000 to 60,000 cubic feet per minute. The greater the prevailing humidity of the air, the larger will be the quantity of water injected into the furnace. Water has the effect of retarding production and diminishing the quantity of iron produced.

PUTTING HER FOOT IN IT

WORTHLESS STOCK

I'm a girl who won't take a back seat to any man. That completely spoils my plans for the evening.

Why? I was going to ask you to come to the pictures with me.

I lost $5,000 over Smith's bankruptcy. I had just sent him a consignment of goods, when he went bankrupt.

"But you got the goods back?"

Yes, but what could I do with the awful rubbish?"

Dear Miss Dixon: I'm a steady reader of your column and find it both interesting and helpful. This is the first time I have written to you. A recent letter in your column burned me up to such an extent I could not resist setting you straight.

Any woman who marries a man for a reason other than that she loves him or believes she does, is so contemptible that whatever unhappiness comes to her is but a small portion of the punishment she deserves.

THE MAN PAYS AND PAYS

It's very well for you to talk about a man signing off when he discovers he's been duped and cheated, but it isn't that easy. A woman can do it, but not a man, unless he wants to disappear and forsake his parents and his friends. A woman can walk out any time she's fed up, but a man must pay and pay and pay.

This was my experience.

The woman pursued me for a year and a half before she finally "hooked" me. She proposed to me, swore she could not live without me and threatened to kill herself if I did not marry her, though there was no moral reason why I should.

Like a sap I believed her, took her at her word, married her. I provided her with a nice home, well furnished and thought everything was easy.

We were married three months when she began treating me coldly and avoiding me. Asked the reason, she broke out and admitted she only married me for a meal ticket and to spite a fellow who had jilted her before we met.

Immediately I packed my belongings and left her, but it's not so easy for a man to free himself. I offered her $5,000, every cent I had in the world, if she would get a divorce. She laughed in my face and said she could do better than that in court.

HALED INTO COURT

She took me to court, put on a big crying act, said I beat her and made her life so unbearable she could not live with me. The judge, as usual, took the woman's word—for what is a man in court when his "poor, helpless, mistreated wife" is suing for support?

The judge awarded her $10 a week and told me I was lucky he didn't send a brute like me to jail.

I ask you: What have I to live for? I have to spend the rest of my life alone supporting a worthless woman who spends her time in dissipation with equally worthless friends, telling them what a sap I am. If I had to live my life over again I'd avoid all women as I would a poisonous snake.

The next time a girl of her type writes to you for help why not tell her to insure her husband for $20,000 and then sue to it that she can go out and have a heck of a time on the money?

Do you blame me for being a "Bitter Cynic"?

ALL WOMEN ARE NOT DESIGNED

Answer: I don't blame you. I sympathize with you. I have a fixed aversion for women alimony hounds. Women wage earners despite them, and for good reason. We demand equality of opportunity and of wage for work, but we'll never get it so long as the sycophants of our sex multify men.

Your mistake is that you are judging all women by the one who look you for a ride. Believe it or not there are real partners among us, wives who work for and with their husbands, and contribute their full share to the mutual welfare and happiness of the home.

Were I in your place I know exactly what I'd do. I would go far enough away to forget it all, and let life live over again on a platform of hope and a belief in the comradeship of good women.

CHAPTER XIX
Deeds McCune gave a start at Gaston's information that caused him to step off the walk into the sand. Before he could recover himself, Gene passed him. He followed, his mind in a haze.
Gaston said he would be through his work in a week or ten days. The same time limit Sloan Ellledge had set. Was there any connection? Were the two of them linked together in some activity? Every thing was merging into some common mystery, drawing everybody into it.
Rubbish! First thing he knew he'd be suspecting those three harmless spinsters of some devilry. . . .
The sense of humor had reached the point where black Salina was putting arsenic in her apple pies when he turned the corner of the porch and received another shock.
John Ellledge was sitting out in the moonlight alone.
He had taken one of the porch chairs and planted it on the sand below the steps, as if he were mounting guard over the house. Deeds felt a quick suspicion that something of the sort might be true. The fat boy was on watch. A glance around revealed no one else in sight.
"Been for a ride?" John called cheerily.
"Down to Harbor Gate and back," Gene informed him without halting. "Good night. Much obliged for your company, McCune."
Deeds hesitated involuntarily. This was the first time he had been alone with John since the letter episode. He found himself a trifle curious as to what might happen. He felt an amused contempt as he looked at the squat figure in the chair.
"I'm enjoying the moon," Ellledge explained. "Won't you join me?"
"Just a minute," Deeds agreed. He dropped to a seat on the bottom porch step and lighted a fresh cigarette. He was near enough to the doctor to converse without raising his voice.
"Fine night for a ride," Ellledge remarked. "I dare say you had a pleasant time."
"Yes."
"Fine chap, young Gaston," the other mused. "But rather inclined to be moody, I would say. Had you noticed it, may I ask?"
"You can ask," Deeds remarked shortly, "but I won't tell you. As a matter of fact, I'd rather talk about you. I can't help trying to express my admiration for you. I think you have the most unmitigated gall to speak frankly of anyone I've ever had the luck to meet."
"Gall? I confess I don't understand you, McCune."
"Of course not. You have the nerve to pick my pockets, then ask as if you thought I should . . . kiss you. I can think of a better word than gall, but someone might hear me."
"My dear boy! Whatever are you talking about? I hope you have been drinking."
"I haven't. And you may as well cut the corners with me. You and your sick brother are the bunk. I doubt that you are brothers. Your name isn't Ellledge any more than mine is. I know that, and you know I know it. You swiped a letter from me that said so. And your big brother comes running over to hand me a lot of threats as to what will happen if I don't keep my mouth shut. How do you like that?"
The unexpected chance to give vent to his feelings made Deeds reckless.
"It's perfectly incomprehensible."
"Oh, yeah? There's a lot of things around here like that. I'm getting fed up." He rose to his feet and approached the chair. "Oh, I'm not going to start anything," he assured the doctor, seeing him squirm apprehensively. "Don't worry. But I am going to suggest that you keep away from me as long as we're both around here. Unless you have to, I'll take it as a favor if you don't speak to me. Is that clear enough?"
"Of course it's clear, McCune. If you are really sober, there is but one excuse for such drive. You have allowed my brother to fill your head with a bit of ill-timed talk. I have tried to tell you—it's a little difficult to discuss such matters with strangers—that his trouble has made him almost irresponsible at times. I thought you understood."
There was such a well simulated reproach in the man's voice that Deeds stared at him in amazement. Was he mistaken after all? "Was Sloan out of his head? It was possible, but . . ."
"Do you mean to tell me," he demanded suddenly, "he admitted that you were using a phony name. About the only thing he didn't tell me was what the pair of you were up to. He intimated—pretty strongly that it would be best for me not to try to find out. Was it all a bluff?"
"Not that. Irresponsibility, my boy. Our poor old father would turn over in his grave if he knew that Sloan had denied his name. Oh, well . . ."
"But I have learned on good au-
